1. Introduction

1.1 Aims

The following policy outlines procedures and guidance to be followed when any staff member is working alone. Its aim is to ensure clarity so that:

- Procedures are applied consistently
- All staff receive relevant information, instruction, training and supervision in respect of lone working
- Risks to staff are minimised/controlled where practically possible
- Appropriate resources are in place to ensure the health and safety of staff and learners.

For the purposes of this policy 'lone working' is defined as any working practice that involves a member of staff undertaking their duties alone, with specific emphasis on direct contact with learners and families.

Examples of lone working might include:

- Making home visits including designated Outreach work.
- Delivering outcomes specified within a learners personalised learning plan - off site
- Being the last person in a building at the end of the day
- Working at the Centre on weekend, evenings, holidays
- Working one to one with a learner
- Working from home office

1.2 Consultation

The Luccombe Hub will communicate this policy to all staff, relevant professionals and learners through inductions, meetings, day to day communications, staff meetings and training. A copy of this policy and all policies will be available on request or via the website.

1.3 Legislation and guidance

There are several laws which hold the employer responsible for protecting the safety of everyone in their employment:

- The Health and Safety at Work Act 1974
- The Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999
- The Corporate Manslaughter and Corporate Homicide Act 2007

2. Procedures and practice

2.1 Procedure, Roles and responsibilities

It is recognised that, from time to time, it may be necessary for staff:

- to work in situations or locations which are remote from other members of staff – e.g. – delivering outreach work off site
- to work in the evenings, weekends or during the holiday at the Centre on their own.

Any member of staff wishing to work outside of normal Centres or do so as their role requires it for example weekend animal husbandry. Then they should communicate that they are on site and suggested end time to The Centre Lead.

Staff have mobile phones when working around site. Staff are requested to ensure their phones are sufficiently charged prior to the start of their duties or lone working time. If a member of staff arrives at the Centre outside of normal hours and finds another colleague is already in the building, they should let them know that they are on site. The sign in board or book should be marked as in.

If a member of staff is about to leave the building, and just one or two other colleagues are remaining on site, they should let them know they are going.

Where a member of staff chooses to work alone on site, they should take these precautions:

- Do not work at height on a ladder or steps.
- Do not go into spaces where there is a possibility of becoming trapped.
- Do not undertake any tasks involving hazardous tools or materials.
- Know the location of the nearest fire exit and how to open it in an emergency.
- Know the location of the nearest first aid kit.
- Carry a charged mobile phone.
- Cars should be parked close to the entrance of the building they are accessing where possible.
- When leaving, limit the amount you are carrying to have one hand free.
- Ensure someone knows where you are and when you intend to leave the Centre. Arrange to telephone or text them when you are leaving.
- If you arrive at Centre and find any sign of intruders, do not enter the building. Instead, call the Police then inform the Centre Lead.

- If you become aware of intruders or vandals, do not challenge them. Instead, call the Police and inform the Centre Lead.
- Do not work alone if you know you have a medical condition that might cause you to become incapacitated or unconscious.
- When working alone, do not attempt any tasks which have been identified as medium or high risk, or which common sense tells you are potentially hazardous given your own level of expertise and the nature of the task.

Where a member of staff knows of a medical/health risk that would put them at significant risk if they were to work alone, they are encouraged to disclose this health concern to the Centre lead who will arrange for a personalised Risk Assessment to be carried out. This Risk Assessment on review by any referral to Occupation Health may state that lone working should not be undertaken and the decision of this will lay with the Centre Lead.

In the event of outreach work being required to facilitate the transition of a learner to the centre or re-engage them in their learning. A Risk assessment will be carried out including learner risk assessment taking account of known behaviours. The arrangement will be made with the parent/carer and learner and an agreement signed (appendix A). Procedure for outreach work will be followed

The Centre Lead is responsible for risk assessments and any subsequent updates to them, bringing the risk assessment and any amendments made to them to the attention of the staff; these risk assessments must be included in the pack of policies provided for any staff new to the Centre as part of their induction. It will be the responsibility of staff members to adhere to the risk assessments outcomes if they are working with learners off site or working alone at the Centre.

Due consideration will always be made within any risk assessment that there may be an identified need for a co-worker to join the member of staff undertaking a home visit; if this has been identified this must form part of the risk assessment, all risk assessment outcomes must be adhered to.

Remote working from home office

At times, staff may work from home. Where a staff member has an ongoing arrangement, for example administration staff and therefore works from home for a significant amount of their working week a risk assessment of the members home set up will be carried out – see Appendix 2. Where required a separate DSE assessment can be completed – see DSE policy.

Whereabouts of staff

Staff must always ensure that the Centre Lead/Leadership team know when a member of staff will be working alone to enable the Leadership team to respond appropriately in the event of an emergency.

For any staff who are working alone off site – e.g. – delivering bespoke outreach provision as part of a learners individual educational plan, the member of staff must provide information which includes information on who they are seeing and estimated start and finish time or return to school. All lone working in a learners' home must be informed via a risk assessment; the outcomes of this risk assessment must be shared with the Centre Lead. This is particularly important where a possible ongoing risk has been identified. If the plan changes or estimated time of return changes in relation to lone working off site, you must ensure you contact the Centre – you can do via the Centre’s group or via Teams, direct message to Centre Lead or appointed person so they are aware of such changes. It is the responsibility of staff to check the details of their car insurance to determine suitability of cover if they use their own vehicle; the office team will request to see the insurance documents recording the visual checks made.

All staff must provide the Centre with appropriate personal information. This information must only be used in an emergency and the Centre must ensure it is held securely to avoid inappropriate disclosure. Please see Centres Privacy Notice and UK GDPR and data protection policy.

Information should include:

- Details of car make, model, colour and registration number if appropriate
- Home address and telephone number
- Mobile telephone number
- Details of next-of-kin

The identified worker must always phone a pre-arranged contact person both immediately before the visit commences and immediately after the visit has ended to ensure the Centre is aware the welfare of the person undertaking the visit has not been compromised.

If any member of staff is concerned about any arrangements informing lone practice working/ following lone working practice they MUST bring this to the attention of the Centre Lead.

Working out of hours

There may be occasions when staff to work outside of normal working hours; this must always be discussed with the Centre Lead before any such arrangements take place. Discussions will consider if working outside of normal working hours is necessary and will be further informed by the employee’s job specification. A buddy system will be used in such situations.

Buddy system

In cases where a buddy system has been agreed as part of a dynamic risk assessment process the following will apply:

- If during core hours’ admin or other designated member of staff will alert a member of the Leadership team if staff member has not returned to or contacted the Centre within 30 minutes of expected return time/ finish time
- Leadership team member to contact the staff member by mobile, if unable to do so will inform the Police
- If out of hours, it is the worker’s responsibility to contact the agreed designated contact person (Member of the Leadership team) to advise they have finished and are on their way home
- If no contact is made within 30 minutes of expected finish time, designated contact person will attempt to make contact with staff member, and if unable to do so will contact the Police
- Mobile telephones must be kept switched on until contact has been made with the designated member of the Leadership team
- In both instances, if an individual staff member for any reason is aware that they will not be contactable on their mobile they must ensure that an alternative contact number is given
- It is advisable to pre-agree the use of a code word in the event that emergency help is required but the member of staff cannot communicate that.

Reporting of incidents

Any incident in relation to lone working must be recorded and reported to a member of the Leadership Team. This must be done as soon as possible so that others are not put at risk. If the incident suggests a child may be at risk the safeguarding policy must be followed. If the incident involves aggression towards the member of staff, then guidance must be sought.

One to one teaching and support

The nature of our work means there will be occasions where staff work one to one with learners. This must always be considered as part of a risk assessment. Rooms / locations for this must be carefully considered. For example, staff should leave the door open in the recognition that public spaces are better than out of the way parts of the centre.

Staff should always consider the following situations and what they would do in these example situations, always remembering staff are in a position of trust:

- When a learner needs first aid
- If a learner is distressed
- How additional support can be summoned
- If you think a learner has become infatuated with a staff member
- learners ask for your mobile number
- A learner gives you a gift

All staff receive regular safeguarding training and team meetings held to discuss particular learners and professional boundaries. Guidance can be sought from any member of the Leadership Team/Pastoral Care & Behavioural Lead.

All visitors to the site should sign in and be shown a copy of child protection procedures. They must wear a visitors badge and remain supervised by a member of staff during their visit.
